Dear Honorable John Horgan,

I proudly support conservation and am seeking improved forestry, habitat & wildlife strategies to help BC's land, water and wildlife recover from years of unchecked mismanagement. I am asking for new & significant conservation management funds be made available immediately to enable wildlife recovery in British Columbia.

As ungulate populations in BC continue to decline at an alarming rate including regions reaching critically low numbers, I am obligated to demand changes. We have created a perfect environment in this province for predators, including humans, and as a result we are seeing steady declines fast approaching unsustainable levels of several wildlife species.

We have close to 1 million kilometers of resource roads in BC. This includes haul roads, spur roads, access trails and seismic lines. There has been minimal regard for wildlife, watersheds, habitat and their restoration – taking from our resources but not giving enough back. Is this good business? Hunting generates 400 million dollars to the BC economy annually which includes more than 2,000 jobs. These are large returns for extremely small investments from the BC Government.

Let's reinvest hunting dollars back into wildlife & habitat management. BC was once world renowned for its wildlife, wilderness, forests, lakes, rivers and streams. Now BC is a global model for what not to do! This is unacceptable and the large majority of British Columbians have absolutely no idea what has happened here.

I am asking for action, not words, to put beautiful British Columbia on the road to recovery. This is a plea to secure funding for our wildlife & habitat so that we can once again claim to be "Supernatural British Columbia".

Best Regards,
